

LCOIN ($LCN): Official Whitepaper

1. Introduction

The cryptocurrency ecosystem has experienced explosive growth in recent years, driven largely by projects that promise extraordinary returns in record time. However, this dynamic has created an environment saturated with speculation, where trust is destroyed as quickly as it is built. Entire communities are trapped in empty promises, while anonymous creators disappear with funds after the first 'pump'.

LCOIN ($LCN) is born as a response to that noise. We are not a project that chases hype or promises to multiply capital overnight. We are a token built on the Solana network with a long-term vision: to become a useful digital asset for payments, store of value, and participation in decentralized finance (DeFi), entirely governed by its community.

Our philosophy is simple: "LCOIN is the car body; the community is the engine." This means the project does not depend on an all-powerful creator or large investment funds. It depends on real people who decide to build together, with transparency, no shortcuts, and an unwavering commitment to the truth.

2. Vision and Mission

Vision

LCOIN aspires to become a benchmark digital asset in the Solana ecosystem, distinguished by its real utility, transparency, and community governance. We do not seek to be the loudest token, but the most reliable. Our goal is for anyone, regardless of their technical knowledge, to be able to use LCOIN to pay, save, and participate in the finance of the future, without fear of being scammed or losing everything due to the volatility of fleeting hype.

Mission

Build a decentralized ecosystem where the community is the engine of every decision. To achieve this, we commit to:

- Real Utility: Develop tools that allow LCOIN to be used as an agile payment method (Solana Pay), a long-term store of value, and a gateway to DeFi services.
- Radical Transparency: Publish verifiable information about token distribution, liquidity locking, and project decisions. No anonymous creators or hidden movements.
- Community Governance: Transfer control of the project to a DAO when the holder community is sufficiently large and diverse. Every voice will count.

- Organic Growth: Reject artificial shortcuts such as bots, inflated metrics, or paid hype campaigns. We grow by adding real people, one by one, who believe in the vision.
-

3. Tokenomics

LCOIN ($LCN) was created on the Pump.fun platform with a fixed total supply of 1,000,000,000 (one billion) tokens. Currently, the token is in its earliest phase, within the platform's Bonding Curve. This implies that the creator has no control over the distribution of the tokens in circulation.

The creator has been acquiring tokens periodically with his own funds. His current personal holding is 1.02% of the total supply, publicly verifiable on the blockchain. There are no hidden whales or opaque allocations.

The following distribution plan applies exclusively to the tokens that the creator manages to accumulate through this process. No other holder is required to allocate their funds to these reserves. Participation in any initiative will always be voluntary.

The percentages are approximate and will be applied to the amount of tokens the creator holds at any given time:

- Liquidity (approximately 25%): A significant portion will be allocated to strengthening the token's liquidity in decentralized exchanges (DEX). This liquidity will be verifiably locked using tools like UNCX Network for a minimum period of 12 months.
- Community Strengthening (approximately 40%): This reserve will be used to incentivize active participation in the LCOIN ecosystem. Rewards will not be granted for simply locking tokens, but for value-adding activities: creating content, welcoming new members, sharing the project on social media, participating in governance, or contributing ideas and feedback.
- DAO Treasury (approximately 15%): Funds will be deposited into a public and verifiable address. Their use will be strictly conditioned on approval by voting of the holders on the Realms platform.
- Founding Team (approximately 10%): Team tokens will be subject to a transparent lock-up and gradual release schedule through platforms like Streamflow Finance.

Annual Burn Mechanism (40% - 50% of collected earnings)

Annually, between 40% and 50% of the net earnings generated by the token's activity (buys, sells, and trading fees) will be allocated to the repurchase of LCOIN tokens on the open market. These repurchased tokens will be burned in a verifiable and permanent manner, sent to the official Solana burn address (`1nc1nerator11111111111111111111111111111111`). The objective is to progressively reduce circulating supply, demonstrate commitment to economic sustainability, and align the creator's incentives with those of the community.

The remaining income will be directly reinvested into the project's growth. These earnings will be used to strengthen the token's liquidity, fund professional security audits, drive the development of the dApp and the integration with Solana Pay, and reinforce the DAO treasury so the community can fund its own initiatives. In this way, every transaction not only rewards those who believe in LCOIN but also ensures the necessary resources to build a solid, transparent ecosystem with a long-term vision.

Transparency Note: The exact amounts and execution of this plan depend on the tokens the creator manages to accumulate through verifiable periodic purchases on the blockchain. None of these allocations constitute a current reality or a promise of profit. All fund movements will be publicly verifiable on the Solana blockchain.

4. Roadmap

LCOIN is a project built step by step. We do not have a rigid timeline, but a roadmap based on clear and realistic milestones, which will be achieved as the community and conditions allow.

Phase 1: Graduation & Community Growth (In progress)

- Reach 100% of the Bonding Curve on Pump.fun.
- Automatically migrate to PumpSwap, where trading will be free and decentralized.
- Strengthen the organic community on Telegram and X, adding real members who share the vision.

Phase 2: Utility, dApp & Community Incentives (Early planning)

- Develop a simple dApp that allows holders to connect their wallets.
- Integrate Solana Pay so any business can accept LCOIN as a payment method.
- Implement a reward system for community activity: content creation, project dissemination, governance participation, and ecosystem contributions. Without token locking.

Phase 3: Community Governance (DAO)

- Activate the LCOIN DAO on Realms when the holder community is sufficiently large and diverse.
- Deposit treasury funds into a public address, whose use will be conditional on approval through voting.
- The community will decide on partnerships, development, aid, and any other initiative.

Phase 4: Expansion & Partnerships (Long-term vision)

- Establish partnerships with businesses, payment platforms, and other projects in the Solana ecosystem.
- Evaluate participation in local development projects, funded by the DAO treasury.

Transparency Note: Each phase will be executed only when resources and the community allow it. Nothing stated herein constitutes a promise of success or a guarantee of future value. We build in the open, step by step, no shortcuts.

Transparency Note: The mechanisms described here will be executed only when the token has completed its graduation to PumpSwap and the creator has the necessary funds. Nothing stated herein constitutes a current reality or a guarantee of value. But it is a public commitment that will be recorded—and can be verified—by anyone.

6. Conclusion

LCOIN does not chase hype or promise to multiply capital. It does not depend on large investment funds or inflated metrics. We are the body of a car whose engine will be the community.

Every step we take will be recorded. Every token that moves will be verifiable. Every important decision will pass, when the time comes, through the hands of those who sustain this project.

We do not have all the answers, but we have a firm commitment to transparency and constant work. We know that a project built on truth can go as far as its community decides.

If you share this vision, this is your place. If you are looking for shortcuts, you won't find them here. LCOIN is a marathon, not a sprint, and the engine is just starting.

Thank you for reading. Thank you for believing. Thank you for being part of it.
